SEEN AS YOU ARE HERE

Discover the following:

WATER AND NATURE

Along the area three important rivers flow, that used to be used for waterways, in the period of the Venetian Republic: the Piave, the Sile and the Livenza. Currently in summer periods the Piave is used for naturalistic courses: the Sile, the longest waterground river in Europe, surrounded by enchanting Venetian villas, is still navigable. The Livenza is of important cyclist-naturalist interest. Not forgetting the Meschio, to be discovered.

WALLED CITIES, CASTLES AND FORTIFICATIONS

Restored castles, ruins of towers, structures incorporated in the city, protection walls, fortified sites stud the territory, with constant reference to history, to the events of communal autonomy, to the contrasting relations between Lordships. These sites punctuate the Marca Trevigiana everywhere.

ARCHITECTURE, A MILLENNARY SUMMARY

Villas, buildings, religious structures and districts constitute a cultural, historical and artistic patrimony waiting to be discovered. Eight different historical periods create the excuse for a step-by-step course, aimed at discovering an enchanting architectural treasure, along the Western part of the province of Treviso.

A JOURNEY THROUGH THE SIGNS OF ARCHAEOLOGY

The presence of Roman settlements, which are very important in the area of Treviso, is well known - Acelum, Opitergium and Tarvisium, but also Montebelluna - as well as the survival of the road network of ancient connections roads and traces of ancient divisions.

WINES AND FLAVOURS

Rich with wine resources, Marca Trevigiana has defined the first road of wine in Italy, which moves from Valdobbiadene to Conegliano. Typical products of local gastronomy, one for all the unforgettable radicchio of Treviso, can be tasted in the characteristic restaurants of the province.

THE GREAT WAR

Between 1917 and 1918 the Marca Trevigiana was crossed and divided by one of the most bloody and hard-fought fronts of the Great War which devastated the territory, the theatre of operations of the Italian army and an area occupied by the Austrian-Hungarian army. Numerous traces have been left.

Sport is timeless and has no boundaries...

	CYCLING THAT FOR BICYCLE IS A "CYCLING PHILOSOPHY"	"When the road rises you can't hide" Eddy Merckx	BOWLS A TRADITION
TREKKING MOVING LIGHT		"Everything that is related to bicycle exercises is called cycling" Panzini "The first meter... is an important starting point for any trip: if this is not the case, then we have nothing. So we are already almost there..." From La strada per Istanbul, E. Rigatti, E dicio 2002	Did you know that there are two different rule that characterise bowls? Raffa and Volo. Each one is developed with its own set of rules and with completely different technical aspects. It was in 1972 when the Italian Federation of Bowls held a bowls championship in the province of Treviso, precisely in Motta di Livenza. In the year 2004 this sport has returned to the Marca Trevigiana, still one of the most popular sports.
"The first point not to be set aside in the preparation of any excursion, that may last just a few hours or even weeks is: move light!". An old proverb states: who has nothing, needs nothing. From La Rivista del trekking, trekking e tecnologia by Michele Dalla Palma		"Extra light bags, shoes like feathers that walk on their own, technical and light clothing" are constantly being studied by "industrial districts" located in the province of Treviso.

GOLF IN HISTORY

In 1457 the king of Scotland, James II, prohibited golf, because the "noble arts" of war were neglected, while in the XVI century the Church prohibited the sport being played on a Sunday. Initially this sport was just a hobby played on grass, structured by nature.

With the XVII century the first golf clubs started to form with players that created specific areas destined for golf courses, now located in various green areas of the Marca Trevigiana.

THE FREE FLIGHT THE ESSENTIAL

"A bag of a maximum weight of 8-10 Kg can hold everything required to observe the world from above. Wing, harnesses, instruments and helmet to create the lightest device in the world: the paraglider". From Manuale di volo libero by Andrea De Rosa, Giuseppe Violante, 1990

On a Sunday in mid April a ride in a canoe between alders and willows that bend down towards the water almost forming fresh green grottoes... almost surrounded in a surreal atmosphere...

CANOEOING A NOBLE SPORT

There are some sports that have meaning, value, special nobility. Canoeing is one of these and the Marca Trevigiana is proud of remembering the gold medal won during the Olympics of the City of Mexico in 1968 by Cipolla, Baran and Sambo.

ORIENTEERING THE COMPETITIVE SPORT

"...On simple pieces of paper we draw a coarse picture of the layouts, with a simple course of approximately one kilometre.

At the control points we placed numbered tickets that everybody was to collect to prove that they had passed through. The spirit of competition, placated for years, was slowly re-emerging in many of us!"
From the website "Il primo Memorial" on orienteering
